By J. H. KELLOGG, M. D., LL. D. SOME root vegetables that are not in popular favor are most nourishing, and of use in furnishing necessary die bulk. These vegetables also have the advantage that they can be stored for winter use, and when bought in quantity are cheaper than many articles of food that are of less value but much more appreciated.

Reets, carrots, parenlps, salsify and be turnips belong to the so-called succulent root group. They differ from the starch-yielding vegetables, like potatess, be-cause they contain a larger proportion cause they contain a larger proportion of water, 85 or 90 per cent on an average. In place of the starch, these roots contain sugars of different sorts and also a large percentage of crude different from that of a person in health in the sugars are readily and well sassimilated. In addition, the mineral saits which they contain serve an important purpose in helping to maintain the alkalinity of the blood. Their buildiness stimulates normal intestinat activity.

That variety of turnip known as rutabagain usually considered only fit for baga, usually considered only fit for feeding stock, rivals the white turnip.

Turnips are generally spoiled by over-stantly overloaded with carbon dioxide.

In 1878, in the National W. C. T. U. convention held in Newark, N. J., Miss Willard declared, "We will never see the entire destruction of the liquor traffic until women have the ballot." Had the license law gone alone through sentiment-tears enough have been shed on the part of heart-broken women to have wiped it out. Had it gone alone through prayers—the victims themselves would have prayed it out. But the liquor traffic is an institution created by the law and by the law it must be declared an outlaw.

Dear Madam—A young lady has asked made to take her to a dance next week, she has the tickets. Is it recessary for me to take her B. a taxt to and from the dance?

ANXIOUS. There is a commercial vegetable coloring that is used to make lemonade pink.
This can be bought in any of the largeprocery stores. A home coloring that is ften used is the juice from strawberry, spherry or cherry preserves. Make the smanade with the lemon juice and water as you always do and then add the coloring until it is the desired shade.

To take her to a dance her to Miss Willard served her great organization for suffrage in 1878, but that was not saying that all of her followers in the temperance reform became adherents of suffrage. Wemen had never known their organizing power nor strength until the forming of the Sanitary Commission during the Civil War. This, on a smaller scale, answered the purpose of the alleviation of the sufferings of our soldiers-much as the Red Cross movement of today does. The much-despised suffrage movement, led by Susan B. lowing to push to a finish the doctrine of equal franchise. In 1918 the battle is on! War to the finish for a world-wide democracy! America must win! But we declare for a nation that no longer will draw its revenue from the destruction of the home-which is the unit of civilization.

Today an army of citizen women, noble, brave, loyal to the flag, greets the dawn! The great reformer, Miss Willard, the only woman to whose memory there is erected a statue in Statuary Hall in the Capitol at Washington, D. C., has been crowned in the hearts of the people of the world as "peerless." But her righteous and just principle has been crystallized until soon we shall behold NATIONAL CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITION written upon the statute books of the American Government. Her truths are being harvested in a sober army and navy-in Hoover's idea of conservation, Mr. Garfield's fuel code, in the regulation of labor and in the statesmanship of the Republic.

With the Federal amendment of prohibition to be submitted to the Legislatures of the States-with, perhaps, the nearer route prohibition as a war measure—truly the stainless flag over a saloonless nation we see with the dawning of the day.
